He gave a connected story of the murder and told the jury in detail the testimony the State would offer to prove that the Taylors murdered Gus Meeks and his family. Mr. Bresnahan told how little Nellie Meeks crawled from the straw stack on Geo. Taylor's farm in the morning of May II, 1894, and covered with blood and bearing a scalp wound where she had been struck by the murder-srs, made her way to the Carter farm-house and related what she knew of the murder. The alarm was given in the neighborhood. Geo. Taylor saddled his horse and rodge to Browning, four miles away, and informed his brother William of the discovery of the dead bodies of the Meeks family in the straw stack. Both George and William fied on their horses immediately and were seen no more until brought back from Arkansas by Jerry. South, a member of the Arkansas Legislature, who captured them at the end of a double-barreled shotgun. Mr. Bresnahan told how the Taylor brothers were under indictment charging them with cattle stealing. Gus Meeks, who had been sent to the penitentiary in the same case, had been pardoned out in order that he could testify against the Taylors at their trial. Such Is the Rumor Brought by a Mail Driver.

SETTLERS ARE SURROUNDED.

Gen. Coppinger and Four Troops of the Ninth Cavalry on Their Way to Jackson's Hole.

CHICAGO, July 25.-A special from Bois City, Idaho, says: A mail driver at Market City, Idaho, says: A mail driver at Market Lake reports that a courier has arrived at Rexhurg: Idaho, from Jackson's Hole, with a report that a fight occurred Tuesday even-ing, and twenty white men were killed. If true, it is strange the courier has not yet reached here, as the driver says he was bound for this point to telegraph for help. There is no way of verifying the rumor.

REGULARS ORDERED OUT.

Four Troops of Cavalry Will Relieve the Settlers.
CHICAGO, Ill., July 25.—A special to the Times-Herald from Cheyenne, Wyo., says: Gov. Richards has received a telegram from the Assistant Secretary of the Interior, notifying him that Brigadier-General Coppinger had been ordered to proceed at nce to the scene of the Indian troubles and order such movement of troops as may be necessary to prevent a conflict between the Indians and settlers. Later, the Governor as advised by Gen Conninger that four troops of the Ninth Cavalry had been or-Sench.
"I don't think I am outside the record, and I don't like to be interrupted, your Honor," replied Col. Hale, with some show dered from Fort Robinson, Neb., to proceed

As it will require at least three days to reach Jackson Hole with these troops, a battle between whites and Indians may be fought before they can be of service. The train bearing the troops will take the Union Pacific via Granger to Market Lake, and then march 170 miles to the seat of war. Gen. Coppinger, with Lieut. Hutchinson, his aide, and Chief Quartermaster Humphrey, will leave Omaha on the first train for the West, and will intercept the troops en route.

his aide, and Chier Quartermaster Humphrey, will leave Omaha on the first train for the West, and will interecept the troops en route.

There are in the Jackson Hole settlement sixty-five men capable of bearing arms, thirty-five women and forty-five children. All of these are gathered at the settlement of Maryaville, situated between Gros Ventre and Little Gros Ventre rivers. It is possible that re-inforcements from the settlements east on the headwaters of the Big Wind River and from the Mormons to the south have reached them in response to couriers sent out during the last week asking for aid. It is estimated by the State authorities that no less than 200 Indians are surrounding the settlement. If the whites have sufficient ammunition, it is confidently expected that they can stand off the Indians until troops come to their aid.

The only practical way of reaching the settlement with soldiers is by way of Market Lake, Idaho, from which place the distance is 102 miles to Maryaville. The road for all of this distance, except twenty miles over the Teton Range, is a good one, and troops can be moved rapidly. Seven companies of infantry at Fort Russell, three miles from this city, have been ordered to be in readiness to move, and are prepared to be in readiness to move, and are prepared to go to the scene of the trouble upon telegraphic orders. The pack trains and field wagon outfit at Camp Carlin, near this city, have also been ordered in readiness for service.

The troops at Fort Russell, the 5th and 17th Infantry, are getting everything in readiness to move as soon as the word comes. It is believed they will be ordered out. Col. Moore is only awaiting orders. The opinion is generally expressed here that the appearance of troops in Hoback Valley, where the Indians are now concentrating their forces, will put an end to the trouble and prevent bloodshed.

TROOPS WANTED IN IDAHO.

Gov. McConnell Requests That They
Be Sent to Teton Basin.

BOISE, Ida., July 2.—Gov. McConnell, who has just returned to this city, received an appeal from Teton Basin on the Idaho border, near Jackson's Hole, asking for protection against the Indians. There are 20 unprotected families there. The Governor wired the President, asking that troops be sent late that locality.

"It is quite likely they will give trouble."
The General exhibited an ordnance map of the country. It is a mountainous region, he said, towering, rugged hills being everywhere and the railway has not yet penetrated it. The Bannocks roam over a very wide area. They live by hunting, and therefore have no settled abode. They belong to Idaho and number several hundred.

Utes on the Way.

EVANSTON, Wyo., July 25.—A band of 218 Utes passed forty-five miles east of here monday on the way to Jackson's Hole. A courier, just arrived, reports that they had stolen 200 horses, which they were driving with them.

The negro had been taken to Mexico, but there were fears he would be mobbed, and he was clandestinely taken away and brought to Hannibal and placed in the city he was taken out of jail, pusen board the Short Line train and taken to Bowling Green. But few people in this city knew the negro was here or he would have been taken from jail and hanged. He is young, of rather slim build, and is apparently half witted. Divers was barefooted and about half naked. He looks like a deperate character.

chief Desmond's office in a condition which the latter thought rendered him unfit for duty.

Chief Desmond accused Tracy of being drunk. The latter vigorously denied it and according to Desmond, became violent and abusive. Without further pariey the Chief suspended him from duty and ordered Detectives McGrath and Kelleher to take Tracy down stairs and lock him up. Tracy objected to such procedure and is said to have made such a violent resistance that it took the combined efforts of several officers to conduct him down stairs and lodge him in the holdover. He was kept in confinement about two hours when he was released and allowed to go home.

He will remain suspended until the charges which have been drawn up against him by Chief Desmond are passed upon by the Board of Police Commissioners.

CHICAGO, July S.—The Holmes charnel house yielded new horrors to-day. Several more bones and a small piece of dress goods have been found there. The discovery was made when the search was resumed in the basement of the Holmes premises this morhour two more human bones were found mouldering in the deep earth of the base-ment and with them was a bit of discolored cloth apparently a portion of a woman's dress. One of the bones found, a shoulder blade, was apparently that of an adult, while the other, a socket bone, was smaller and appeared to be that of a child. The police by their discovery to-day were confirmed in their belief that the skeletoris being uncovered are those of the missing Mrs. Connor and her daughter Pearl.

Fair Thursday Night and Friday, With Little Change in Temperature.
Weather forecast for St. Louis and vicinity—Generally fair Thursday night and Friday, with little change in temperature.
For Illinois—Fair to-night; alightly warmer in extreme south portion; Friday fair, slightly warmer in extreme south portion; Friday fair; warmer in south portion.
This is comfortable summer weather. That is what Dr. Frankenfield said, and he added that he had predicted the change Wednesday. Reports of rains continue to come in from points east of the Mississippi. It is clearing up throughout the West and a general rise of the mercury is predicted.
The high barometer area has moved on sast and the warm weather is here to stay, at least for a few days. A rise from 2 to 6 degs. in the temperature was reported from various points taken at 7.30 this a m. are as follows: Boston, 72; New York, 65; Washington, 62; Pittsburg, 64; Cleveland, 62; Cheyenne, 62; Lender, 60; Galveston, Tex., 80.

MORE MYSTERY. Minnie Williams Was Seen in Chicago Last Fall.

Last Fall.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 26.—Is Minnie Williams dead, one of the innumerable victims of Holmes, or does she still live? Mrs. Jennie Irons of this city furnishes a story which upsets theories heretofore advanced that she and her sister were killed by Holmes sometime in the summer of 1853.

"Minnie Williams roomed with me for two days and two nights last fall." said Mrs. Irons with the positive declaration that there could be no mistake about her story. "I entertained her, Holmes and two of the Pitezel children, the boy and the youngest girl. Holmes, accompanied by Minnie Williams and the two children, came to my house about & o'clock in the afternoon. He introduced himself as 'Mr. Holmes, and Minnie Williams as his wife and 'my children,' is the way he spoke of the little ones.

"I know these parties were Holmes, Minnie Williams and two of the Pitezel children, because week before last I was visited by a Philadelphia detective and one from the Central Station here. They showed me photographs of a man, woman and three children. I identified the man's picture as that of the man Holmes, who was at my house; the woman's as that of his wife, and two of the three pictures of the children I identified as the boy and girl who were at my house. The picture of the older girl I could not say anything about, as she was not with the other children when I had them as lodgers. The detective, after I had identified them, told me the pictures were photographs of H. H. Holmes, Minnie Williams and the two Pitezel children."

Toronto Wants, to Try Him.

TORONTO, Ontario. July 22.—The verdict of the Coroner's jury in the case of the Pitezel children was laid before the Attorney-General fo-day, and proceedings for extradition of Holmes will be at once entered upon. Every effort will be made to have Holmes tried in this city. It is thought here that Toronto's claim will have precedence with Philadelphia's authorities over those of Chicago.

The tenant of the cottage in which it is alleged the murgers were done has found a small plece of material, apparently a portion of what had been a light colored waist, and a scarlet hair string, knotted as though it had been pulled from a plait of hair. This furnishes still another proof of positive identification of the bodies as those of Alice and Nellie Pitezel.

THE HUMAN BONES. Story Told by Holmes to Account for

Their Discovery. PHILADELPHIA, July 25.-Holmes has gotten together a very ingenious story to ount for the discovery of human bones in his house in Chicago. He says:

"The police simply don't know what they are talking about when they say I murdered so many persons and buried their bones indiscriminately in every nook and corner I could find throughout the country. Quite awhile ago I made a statement to the Philadelphia authorities that they were liable to find human bones in many different places all over the continent. I then frankly admitted that I had been engaged in a num-ber of insurance swindles which did not pan out.

ber of insurance swindles which did not pan out.

"One of these was for a $40,000 policy, and had to be abandoned in an embryonic state because the officers of the company became suspicious. The idea was to have the bodies of a woman and boy found in their home and afterwards the corpse of a man with a bullet in his head to make it appear a case of murder and suicide. I got bodies from a graveyard to represent the wife and son, but the alleged husband's body had not yet been procured when the insurance agents learned of the scheme, and the bodies had to be disposed of the best way I could. I had them embalmed and put in trunks, which were sent to a cold storage warehouse. Before any preparations could be completed, however, the manager of the storage house notified me to take the trunks away, or he would sell the contents. I did so, and the bodies were buried in separate places. Where they are the police must find out."

In the transfer of properties between him and Minnie Williams. Holmes added, in must find out."

In the transfer of properties between him and Minnie Williams, Holmes added, in which he had secured the Fort Worth property, a note in the shape of a mortgage was given by Minnie Williams and indorsed by Horace Williams, who was supposed to be her brother. She never had a brother, however, and the indorser was Holmes himself.

Holmes said that the shipteres was the limes and that the shipteres was the limes was the limes and that the shipteres was the limes was the limes himself.

Holmes said that the subterranean passage at Chicago had served as nothing more harmful than a vat for illuminating oil used on the premises. The dumb waiter was accounted for by the fact that during the World's Pair there had been a restaurant World's Fair there had been a restaurant on one of the upper floors of the building.

Holmes' Letter to Mrs. Smythe. Holmes' Letter to Mrs. Smythe.

DAVENPORT, Io., July 25.—Tears came to Mrs. Smythe's eyes when she read a dispatch from Chicago last night stating that a body had been found in the Holmes building at Sixty-third and Wallace streets which was supposed to be that of her grandchild Pearl Conner. "The poor child, the poor child," she sobbed out. Then picking up an evening paper, she exclaimed as if she saw a gleam of hope in the printdhead lines, "Oh, sure it was only bones they found, and how could they tell whether they were my grandchild's or not?"

Mrs. Smythe has at last succeeded in finding the letters of H. H. Holmes to herself written at the time the murderer had either slain or was plotting the killing of Mrs. Julia L. Conner and her daughter Pearl. In the first letter, dated Oct 31, 1892, Holmes shows consummate skill in effacing himself. He invents a law suif in which his interests are involved, and claims he wants Mrs. Conner as a witness who would prove valuable to him. His connection with the law in Chicago was mostly with regard to judgments for small amounts, and yet he writes to Mrs. Smythe of a case in which $1,000 depended on her daughter's testimony. Possibly while disposing of his victim's body he wrote to Mrs. Smythe, yet he writes to the latter for the first time in his life, and opens his letter in an innocent strain of inquiry. Holmes asks the question, "Will you kindly communicate with Mrs. Conner any say for me that it is absolutely necessary for us to hear from her with regard to the suit in which she is interested as a witness?"

This was the first intimation to Mrs. Smythe that her daughter had disappeared, and the first line she ever received from Holmes. The arch murderer used the letter paper of the fictious Campbell-Yates Company at Nos. 701-708 fixty-third street, Chicago, and dates his jetter Oct. ANNIE WILLIAMS.

The child was playing with several little girls and boys about her own age in a vacant lot near her home. She got hold of a piece of burning paper, with which she started to bluld a bonfire.

As she stooped over her clothing caught fire. She started to run, and the breeze fanned the flames until she became completely enveloped in fire. The child's frantic screams attracted the attention of John Hall, a carpenter, who was at work near by. He ran to the rescue, and rolled the victim over and over on the ground in an effort to put out the flames. He finally threw his coat around her, and the blaze was smothered.

Almost every shred of the blazing clothing was forn from the little sufferer's body before the flames could be quenched. She was burned almost to a crisp, and her cries were piteous in the extreme. Great blackened scars marked the progress of the flames on her limbs and body, and in places the flesh was burned to a cinder.

The victim was carried to her home and Dr. H. M. Starkloff immediately summoned. He dressed the frightful wounds on her limbs and chest with cotton and oil, but there was not one chance in a hundred for her recovery. She lingered in terrible agony till 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night, when death relieved her sufferings.

Hall was badly burned about the hands and arms and had some painful burns on his body and face as a result of his heroic efforts to save the child's life. His hurthad to be dressed by a physician and were of such a nature as to prevent him from working for several days at least.

The vacant lot in which the accident occurred is at the corner of Accounce street and Oregon avenue, and has long been a favorite play ground of the children in the neighborhood. The victim was a daughter of Henry M. Brockstedt, publisher at 203 Pine' street. The father was immediately notified of the accident and hastened home, but nothing could be done to save the child's life. He is almost frantic with grief.

Mrs. Lesette Ulrich is a respectable widow with an only daughter, Lulu, 17 years of age. For almost a month these two lived over a resort of ill-fame at 212% Walnut street, the daughter subjected to the insults of the inmates and the jibes of the girls and boys about her own age in a frequenters, because Mrs. Ulrich was too poor to move and the police authorities considered that a good neighborhood in

This is the story that came out in the Court of Criminal Correction Thursday norning, when the case against Myrtle Rapp, charged with keeping an immoral resort, was called.

For four years Mrs. Ulrich has lived in St.
Louis. In that time she has earned the respect of all with whom she has been thrown in contact by her excellent character and industry. April 11 last she rented the upper flat at 2142½ Walnut street, the neighborhood being eminently respectable then, and the down-stairs flat occupied by respectable people. She rented from J. J. Lochmann, 1222 Olive street. Her rent was required in advance, and she paid promptly on the 11th of each succeeding month. She paid her rent in advance, as usual, June 11 last.

A day or two afterwards new tenants moved into the lower flat. It was not long before Mrs. Ulrich learned their character. The diagraceful revelry at all hours of the night, the flaunting of vice at the front windows and the vulgarity heard on all sides could not be mistaken. The downstairs flat had been converted into a brothel, and the keeper was Myrle Rapp, one of the most notorious women in St. Louis. In entering and leaving their home Mrs. Ulrich and her 11-year-old daughter were compelled to pass the inmates of the place.

The young girl was subjected to terrible temptations; her mind was being debauched by the sin that assailed her sight and hearing at all hours and her mother was poweries to rescue her from the surroundings. Dependent upon the labor of her own hands for subsistence Mrs. Ulrich had not the money then to pay rent for another house in advance, nor even enough to pay for the removal of her household furniture. Until July 11 last she was compelled to remain. Then, by dint of much exertion, she was enabled to move. She now resides at No. It South Twenty-second street.

About a week ago, the residents of this neighborhood, unable to enlist the assistance of the Police Commissioners in purging it of vice, secured warrants against women of loose character in the neighborhood for keeping houses of ill-fame. Myrtle Rapp, was one of the women thus charged, When ort, was called. For four years Mrs. Ulrich has lived in St.

When her case came up Thursday Attorney Martin & Bass, representing the prosecution, requested a continuance until next Monday, although they were ready to proceed. The woman had promised to move from the neighborhood, and had, in fact, commenced moving Thursday.

Mrs. Ulrich has retained a lawyer in the matter. The latter states that Mrs. Ulrich's good name has been injured by her unavoidable sojourn in the place and that she will sue J. J. Lochmann for damages.

tion of the dead bodies at the straw stack on the morning they were discovered after the murder. Witness said Meeks and his wife were shot in the region of the heart and the 18-months-old baby had been shot through the head with a bullet.

L. C. Lents of Browning was the next witness who visited the straw stack and saw the dead bodies of Gus Meeks and wife and 2-year-old child and young babe. He testified that the bodies were lying in a narrow tranch, two feet deep, and were covered with straw and dirt. Witness testified that on his way from Browning to George Taylor's farm, a distance of four miles, he discovered blood in the road on the Jenkins Hill. This hill is about half way between Browning and the Taylor farm, and is supposed to be the spot where the Meeks family were murdered and then the dead bodies were hauled on in the wayon and buried at the straw stack.

Witness Lents swore that he found a revolver lying by the roadside on Jenkins hill, and that there was also blood in the road and evidence of something having been dragged from the road to a hickory tree twenty-fire feet away.

The theory of the State is that Gus Meeks was shot first in the wagon; that Mrs. Meeks jumped from the wagon; that Mrs. Meeks jumped from the wagon; that Mrs. Meeks jumped from the wagon; that Mrs. Witness Lens said that the revolver had five chambers, and that only three shots had been fired. Gus Meeks' hrother told witness that the revolver belonged to Gus. The revolver was not presented at the last trial.

Mr. Conkling, in cross-examination of witness Lens, brought out the fact that Illinois Legislature. special to The Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 23.—The Republicans of the Senate, in caucus yesterday, adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, By the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein. That we proceed at the earliest possible day to complete our work upon the question of tax levy and artitration, and takes a recess immediately thereaties, without pay, until Towaday, Nov. 16, 1826, at 12 octoba in, at which time we shall take up the matter of the Republicans of the House for their approval, and, unless it is indereed by them, it probably will not be introduced in the Senate. There is no ground for supposing that any considerable number of the Republican Representatives will favor a proposition of this kind. On the contrary, nearly all of them appear to be decidedly opposed to a recess to any date. The prediction still holds good that whatsver is to be done at this extra session will be done at once.

This morning the Senate bill appropriating 5,000 for pay of employes of extra session was passed and sent to the Governor for signature by the House. The resolution calling for the adoption of a stamp system in fees was postponed for one week. The House want into a Committee of the Whole, on consideration a Committee of the Whole, on consideration for the resolution of the House calling upon the United States Senators from Hillingis to the improvement of harbors and desired the passage of a bill by Congress for the improvement of harbors and desired the contract of the resolution of the resolution of the resolution of the passage of a bill by Congress for the improvement of the resolution of th The revolver was not presented at the last trial.

Mr. Conkling, in cross-examination of witness Lens, brought out the fact that a mob was formed to hunt for the Taylors, and it was not strange that they remained away from Browning. Witness admitted that he was a member of the mob that hunted the Taylors with bloodhounds the day after the murder.

Court adjourned at noon for one hour, and a large crowd lined the streets to see the Taylor brotehers led over to the little brick jail by Sheriff Stanley and two depurties.

Marg landed in a skill at the foot of Convent street about 9 colock Thursday morning, and as the boat was running into the shore it encountered something in the water. Upon investigating he found it to be part of a boy's body. He took it to the Morgue, where shout an hour later Emma Beckman, the boy's mother, identified the body as that of her son. She said that he had left her home, 7% South Second street, more than a month ago, without saying where he intended going. She reported his disappearance to the police, but no clew of him had been found up to the time of the discovery of the body. Mrs. Beckman will bury the remains.

TOKIO, July 12, via Victoria, July 25.—
The Japanese who remain on the island in Wei-Hai-Wei harbor have taken pains to keep the house and grounds of the late Admiral Ting in perfect order. No one has been permitted to occupy the premises or even to disturb the flowers in the garden. The young "Jap" is developing an increasing fondness for athletic sports. A regatta has been arranged to take place on Lake Blawa July 12, by students of the University and the principal schools of several large cities.

A rebellion against French authority has broken out in the Hai-Then District of Tonquin. Two thousand men are in arms and are tacitly supported by the native officials, whose hostility to the French is increasing.

The efforts of the Chinese Government to detain the Japanese Minister at Tien Tsin were without avail. Mr. Hayashi kept on his course, arriving at Peking June 22. The first person to welcome him was an attache of the American Legation. On the following day Mr. Hayashi called on Minister Denby. Two days later he presented himself at the Tsungit Yamen, and afterwards visited the European diplomatist. July 7 he personally delivered the credentials to the Emperor.

personally delivered the credentials to the Emperor.

A curious feature of the audience was the presence of two glants recently brought from Honan to the capital, and ennobled expressly to qualify them for admission to the palace. At all receptions for foreign ministers these colossi occupy a prominent position, and his majesty appears to take pleasure in contrasting their huge bulk with the proportion of his vigitors. Several of the diplomatic corps are of slight stature, Mr. Denby being the one notable-exception. The reflections awakened by comparing the glants with the Japanes representatives can scarcely be agregable, when the Emperor remembers how easily the little empire overcame the big one in the late conflict.

NEW YORK, July 25.—A Herald dispatch from St. Petersburg says:

The present status of the negotiations between Russia and Japan implies the propect of a decision providing for the evacuation of the Liao-Tung Peninsula in two successive stages.

This retrocession will be made step by step as the Chinese Government liquidates its indebtedness to Japan in respect of the war indemnity.

Mr. Kawashima Jun, a prominent member of Parliament, comes out in the Kokumin with an opinion that the war claim should first be wiped out with the proceeds, then more war preparations should be made and the balance of the money expanded upon a variety of laudable and patriotic works, especially the pensioning of soldiers and sallors.

He saw a man and woman strugiling on the sidewals, the would shricking for help and crying murder. Dixon placed both under arrest and at the Four Courts the man proved to be Joseph L. Black, the race-horse man, rendered notorious by the accusations of Minnie B. Easton that he robbed her of $1,000 of the proceeds of the sale of property once owned by Contractor Thomas O'Nell. The woman was Carrie Williams, who figured in the trial of Black.

The Williams woman stated that Black had beaten her brutally at their home, 154 Olive street, just before the scene, and that when she fied from the house to the street he pursued her. She refused to give any further account of the trouble and was released on her promise to appear in the First District Police Court to prosecute Black. The latter was released on bond.

The woman falled to appear in court and the case was continued until Friday in order that she may be brought in by process of law. shricking for help and crying murder

There will not likely be an opposition ticket in the field. A meeting will be held Friday night to prepare for the primaries.

ON DANGEROUS GROUND.

Gold Bug City Central Committeemen May Absent Themselves To-Night.

A scheme has been hatching for several days among the top story politicians which may be sprung at the meeting of the Demo-cratic City Central Committee to-night The committeee has been called together to arrange for the primaries to be held Saturday for the purpose of electing delegates to the Pertle Springs Convention on Aug. 6. to the Pertie Springs Convention on Aug. 6.
At this meeting the following places in every ward in the city will be selected and the judges and clerks appointed. The meeting will be held at the Produce Exchange, Fourth street and Franklin avenue.

The scheme of the gold men is to have the members of the City Central Committee who are controlled by them remain away from the meeting. It will have but little effect if carriedsout, as the committee has the power to select polling places in every ward not represented and to make all necessary arrangements for holding the primaries. If the gold bug members of the committee are not present to submit a list of the polling places the committee has a perfect right to hatch, and their absence will not cause the slightest embarrassment.

single gold standard men, since the monetary conference in Missouri was first suggested. They have not even played fairly with their own crowd.

The latest turn taken is a meeting of the St. Louis Sound Money Club Wednesday afternoon in the office of Leverett Bell, two floors above D. R. Francis in the Laclede Building. Jonathan Rice was the only director absent. President Kehr called the meeting to order and presented an address to the Democrats of Missouri in which it is urged that, the friends of sound money should not heed the coming State Convention at Pertle Springs.

And then the surprising statement is made that the date set for the convention is entirely too early to admit of a fair discussion of the question. President Kehr was present at the meeting of the State Central Committee at the Southern Hotel Monday, July 15, and knows as well as anybody that the gold men set the date and made it as early as possible. The handwriting is on the wall—the gold men know they are fighting for a lost cause and yet with the vanity of faded glory they are fearful that some of their misguided number might make an exhibition of their weakness by endeavoring to elect delegates. The call concludes this "Our advice, therefore, to the sound mon-ver gathering with which tay have in con-cern."

The gold club sings the swan song in this paragraph of its address: "It is manifest that the gathering at Pertle Springs on the 6th of August next is not intended to be, and will not be, a Democratic Convention, but a Free Silver Convention. Its platform is already written and it is for free silver at 16 to 1. It repudiates and renounces al-legiance to the Democratic national platform of 1892 and to the Democratic national Ad-ministration elected on that platform."

CARLISLE NOT COMING.

Ex-Gov. Francis denies absolutely the statement published in the Warrensburg (Mo.) Tribune that he had written a letter to a gentleman in that city saying that Secretary Carlisie will in all probability make several specches in the State in the interest of "sound money," so-called.

"No, I never wrote such a letter to any person," said the sx-Governor, when asked about the matter. "I know nothing about Secretary Carlisie's movements. In answer to a letter I received from a gentleman in Warrensburg I wrote that I did not know whether Secretary Carlisie would come to Missouri or not, but that if a petition asking him to come here should be circulated I would sign in."

It was the intention, so the rumor went for Secretary Carlisie to come to Missouri and make a number of speeches for gold just before the Pertie Springs Convention meets.

two years younger, both children woman by a former husband, live withthem.

The girl has been blind from her birth. She accuses Moore of unnatural crimes, saying that for over a year he has made repeated attempts to assault her. She has managed to escape from his clutches before any serious harm was done, but about three weeks ago, she stays, Moore made such a determined and violent attack on her that she was forced to scream for help before he would desist.

Rumors of these acts of Moore's circulated about the neighborhood and soon became common talk. The neighbors took it up, and Wednesday night informed Officer of Leary, who arrested Moore. His alleged wife and the little girl accompanied him to the station in the patrol wagon, where Moore denied the charges made by the girl and the woman supported his statement and denounced the child's story.

"No they are not lies, and you know it's the truth," retorted the child. "You made me tell lies when I was younger, but I am getting too big to lie for you any longer and am going to tellethe truth."

The manner in which the child spoke and her entire demeanor convinced the polles officers who heard her story. The woman, officers who heard her story. The woman, officers who heard her story. The woman.

"THE TIDE HAS TURNED."

Secretary Carlisle announces that in nd money is going to win."

This is another tip for the "sound oney" organs. For some weeks they have been proclaiming vociferously in chorusthat "the free silver craze is dying out." and that "the silver agitation has These assertions were becoming a trifle monotonous, not to say ragged of edge where they collided with the facts. So Secretary Carlisle gives them a new cue. During the next month or so the "sound money" editors will know more and say more about the turning of the tide than was ever dreamed of by

Commodore Maury.

The Post-Dispatch has already shown how the tide is turning in Mississippi. In the campaign for the State ticket the so-called sound money platform is being ignored where it is not openly repudiated. The Courier-Journal perceives clearly that the Carlisle contingent won a barren victory in the State Convention, which has already been enatched from their hands. It is almost daily appealing to the candidates to accept the binding character of the Carlisle version of the platform adopted. And its appeals are unheeded. Mr. McCreary is making "sound money" speeches in which he violently assails Senator Blackislative contests, and it is already evident that his candidacy for the United States Senate is hopeless.

towards the Republicans. There is only too much reason to fear that the result of the gold standard raid on Kentucky Democrats will be the carrying of the State by the Republicans. This would not be a grevious disappointment to either Cleveland or Carlisle. They would far rather that the Republicans should carry Kentucky or any other State than that it should be carried by a Democrat on a free silver platform.

CONCERNING "HARMONY."

At occasional intervals during the last out with ebuillent appeals for harmony in the Democratic party. When the Democratic members of the Legislature at Jefferson City met in caucus and requested the State Committee to call a State Convention, the organ appealed for "harmony." When the committee met on June 1 and refused to call a convention there was anfew months the Francis organ has broken refused to call a convention there was an other appeal for "harmony." When, in spite of the State Committee, the obstinate Democrats in the counties kept on demanding a convention, the organ rebuked and chided them in the interest of "harmony."

. The organ's idea appears to be that The organ's idea appears to be that the proper way to secure "harmony" in the party is for the hundreds of thousands of Missouri Democrats who honestly believe that their own and their country's interests would be promoted by the free coinageof silver should meekly allow themselves to be misrepresented and their party machinery controlled by a few hundred alleged Democrats whose personal interests lead them to espouse the cause of the single gold standard. Now that the Democrats of Missouri have insisted upon having their own way and insisted upon having their own way and expressing their own views, the organstill no doubt in the interests of "har-mony"—has taken to ridiculing, discrediting and belittling their action. It de clares that a State convention regularly called by the State Committee and composed of delegates regularly elected by the party voters at the primaries or in mass conventions is an unimportant gathering of a faction, and that it is without power to bind other Democrats who do not happen to approve of its action. The highly respectable and repre-sentative gathering of editors at Sedalia is dealt with in the Globe-Democrat style of contemptuous pleasantry, the plais purpose being to belittle its influence.

And yet the organ is for "harmony." There can be no doubt of that. Another article portraying the beauties of "har mony" is about due. If the obstinate eleven jurymen would only yield an agree with the one juryman, there would be nothing in the way of the organ's idea of "harmony."

are studied the stronger the conviction becomes that the result is due rather to a collapse of the Liberals than to the ncreased strength of the Conservatives. The defeat of the Liberals seems to voters against Liberal leadership. There is an apparent analogy between the British elections and our own elections last fall when the sweeping Republican victory was due to the apathy or anger of Democratic voters. This theory is strengthened by the attitude of Mr. Gladstone whose cold, brief message before the election indicated little sympathy with the course of the party, and whose message after the defeat suggests a positive reflection upon some of the Libera both cars men jumped headlong to save themselves.

Then came the crash. The Mound City car jammed with frightful force against the rear of the Bellefontaine. The propelling car resered back on its back wheels like a frightened horse and the Bellefontaine car went flying from the track, careening half over, and then righting again. One woman fainted, but her name was not learned. She was escorted by a gentleman to the confectionery store at Eleventh street and St. Louis avenue, where she soon recovered and went home.

The Bellefontaine car was knocked clear off the tracks and it was four hours before it was patched up sufficiently to be hauled away. The rear end was badly damaged, as was also the front end of the other car.

What blame there is for the accident seems to attach to the Benton and Bellefontaine men, as the west-bound cars have the right-of-way.

day they return to the cave. A place that many wide-awake adventurous citizens have not heard of or seen has been known to these blind animals for ages and ages, and perhaps has been more thoroughly explored by them than by human beings.

The explorer traversed several chambers and crawled through narrow passages. He came to a room having two exits leading in different directions. A distance that seemed half a mile was covered and then a turn was made and steps retraced to the outer world. The experience was a queer one and well worth an afternoon's labor.

In State Senator Fred Mott's office in Carondelet is an oil painting which has Cliff Cave for its central figure. The canvas is 30 inches wide and 12 feet long. The face of the bluff with the wide opening is vividly portrayed and in the background there is a glimpse of the Mississippi. Set in a heavy caved oak fame, behind thick plate glass, the picture attracts much attention. Some men once thought that this work of art was destined to hang in the hall of the nation's Congress, to be built on the broad plateau above the cave, within full view of the Father of Waters.

Mr. Mott obtained the picture after the death of Henry T. Blow, whose property it was. Mr. Blow, once American Minister to Hrasil; L. U. Reavis, who wrote 'The Capitol Mover.' and was a character in St. Louis' history; ex-Gov. Thomas C. Fletcher and Ben Von Phul formed a syndicate and purchased hundreds of acres about Cliff Cave. The dream of their lives was to transfer the seat of the National Government to this beautiful apot. Blow and Reavis are dead and the other capitol movers are engaged in enterprises more practical.

SUNDAY RACERS ARE OUTLAWED.

Four St. Louis Wheelmen Barred from Race Tracks.

SEVERE MEASURES TAKEN.

Racing Board Chairman Gideon Has Determined to Break Up Unsanctioned Sunday Races.

Mr. Gideon expresses his de-termination to stamp out the rebellion. He has already suspended some of the men who rode at Belleville June 23 and at the Fair Grounds July 7, for one year, and those who rode at both for two years.

The pionic of the Retail Grocers' Asso The pionic of the Retail Grocers' Association, which was held at the Fair Grounds last Sunday, was the last straw for the Chairman, and he writes to the St. Louis member of the Racing Board that he has placed permainent suspension upon G. E. Stork, J. F. Barsaioux, Joseph Laux and W. W. Gardner. Mr. Gideon states that these men are outlawed by the League and that any rider, who hereafter competes with them, will be suspended from track privileges. The outlawing goes further and will render all track proprietors and associations who accept the entries of these riders liable to be blacklisted and refused sanctions in the future.

In addition to these stringent measures Mr. Gideon has written to the National Cycle Board of Trade, asking those members to request their agents in St. Louis to withhold their support from all promoters giving unsanctioned saces here. This is done to persuade the local dealers from donating prizes.

Dan Honig scratched Magnet resterday because he failed to get an allowance, which he claims, was specified in the conditions of the race. Judge Pettus construed the conditions differently and Honig wants to bet him big odds that he is wrong, leaving the matter to Secretary Hopper to decide. The conditions of the race started off with the announcement that it was to be five pounds below the scale, with a three-pound penalty for horses that have won four races since May 1. A further provision that winners of $1,500 in 1834 or 1836 shall carry weight for age was made.

ARE THERE TWO WEAVERS?

Suspicion Directed Against the Winner of the Last Race. Weaver, winner of the last race at the Fair Grounds Wednesday, was backed off the boards from 8 to 1. He broke from be hind and went to the front like a shot, hind and went to the front like a shot, winning all the way. J. W. Brooks protested against bets being paid until the horse could be identified, but Joe Martin assured the judges that he knew Weaver well and on his statement the result was allowed to stand.

There is still talk of "a nigger in the wood pile." however, and the judges will do well to examine the horse again, if it is possible to do so. "Doo" Ives, who says he knows the horse well, told a Post-Dispatch representative last night that he thinks it was another "Weaver" that won yesterday's race. According to Mr. Ives, Weaver had become undersized since he saw him last, if he is the same horse.

VAN BUREN RETIRED.

He Has Joined Ceverton and Argyle at Johnny Huffman's Farm.

Johnny Huffman, Chris Smith's old trainer, has returned from a week's visit to his farm at Greenville, Ill. Huffman has been resting up his good mare, Lily of the West, and he will bring her back to the Fair Grounds if the racing season is extended. In addition to his racing interests Huffman has branched out in the breeding industry. He has three stallions, namely, Argyle, a brother to Inspector B., Ceverton and Yan Buren.

GENTRY DEFEATED PATCHEN.

Result of the Great Pacing Race at Freeport. Ill.

Joe Patchen was beaten in straight heats by John R. Gentry at Freeport, Ill., Wednesday. Gentry's time was 2:00%, 2:00% and 2:00%. Patchen threw one of his shees in both the first and second heats. About 10,000 people witnessed the race. Gentry paced the first half of the opening heat in 2:0%, and he went the three-quarters of the same heat in 1:30.

Dennis Colman of 127 Market street, St. Louis, Mo., says: "For the last nine years I have had rheumatism very badly. I surfered all kinds of pain and finally was compelled to abandon my work. The disease settled in my hips, and for seven months I was confined to the house. The torment I suffered during that time cannot be described. I was in constant misery, and nothing I could obtain would alleviate my sufferings. I tried all kinds of medicines without obtaining the slightest relief until I began using MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM CURE. I used four bottles of it and now I am thoroughly cured, and have been able to return to my work. I have not had the slightest indication of a return of the disease, and am satisfied that the cure is permanent."

ARE THERE TWO WEAVERSP

FOR FIELDERS' ERBORS. Ehret Suffered Ignominy When the Fault Was Not His.

A bad mistake was made in Wednesday's game with the Bostons when Ehret was taken out of the box and Kissinger substi-tuted. Kissinger did not pitch badly, but taken out of the box and Kissinger substituted. Kissinger did not pitch badly, but neither did Ehret, and the four runs made in the sixth inning were not chargeable to Red. Ehret pitched a good game, but had to stand the ignominy of being removed from the box for the errors of the fielders. It was Quinn who lost the game for the Browns. He made two bad errors—one when he ran out in Dowd's territory, an old trick of his, and the other when he let Lowe's grounder get by him. The latter cost exactly four runs.

'Umpire Galvin was rank in his decisions Wednesday, and recognized it himself by changing his ruling in the first inning and allowing the run, to which the Bean-eaters were undoubtedly entitled. His decisions on balls and strikes were very poor, and even the smallest boy is the grounds could see his mistakes. He was unprejudiced, however, and gave neither side the better of it. In parenthesis it may be remarked that Chris does not like umpires. He has complained to, Nick Young about every one of them excepting Emsile.

Fred Ely's playing at short has been as brilliant as any man who has ever occupied that position. Ely refuses nothing and usually gets the ball. His hand hardly touches the sphere before it is on the way to first, and once recently he jumped for the ball and threw it while in the air. He seldom makes an error now, and when he does it is almost excusable. In addition to this he is in any part of the field when needed.

THE THIRD ALSO.

The Bostons Captured the Entire Series From the Browns.

The Bostons took the third game from the Bostons Wednesday, making it three the Browns wonnessay, making it the sixth inning, when Lowe hit a grounder to Quinn and it bounded by him. It was a chance for a double, and the four runs were soured immediately after it. The

MURDER REVEALED.

Systery of a Double Grime Told by

NEW YORK, July 25.—A Herald special rom Winsted, Conn., says:

The mystery of a double murder which ras committed over twenty-five years ago a Canaan, twenty miles west of here, has sen unraveled by a letter received here last light from California, addressed to the Itohneld County Leader.

On June II, while Solomen Barlow was igging in a field on his farm, which is ounded on the north by the tracks of the hiladelphia. Reading & New England hallroad, he unearthed two skeletons.

Old settlers of Ganaan at once recalled the udden and mysterious disappearance of wo men during the construction of the rail-oad. The road was opened in 1871. While twas being built a large gang of workmen nade Canaan their headquarters. Two no-orious fighting characters in the squad were Big Mike" Houlihan and his nephew, Pat tyan. They disappeared one afternoon fiter a brawl. Little was thought of their lisappearance. "Big Mike" was a giant in tature, while his nephew was small. The two skeletons found corresponded to his description. And now comes the letter of the Leader. It is signed by Antonio Stattery of San Jose, Cal., and tells a sin-pular story.

Elattery ays that he recently picked up NEW YORK, July 3.-A Merald specia

he finding of the skeletons on Barlow's arm. He at once recalled that twenty-four ears ago he worked in the same gang of abovers with "Big Mike" and his nephew, tyan; was well acquainted with both and so knew the man who killed them. This titer, he said, was one Pat, alias "Fatty," loudhan, also a railroad laborer and a sember of the squad. The murder was the utcome of a drunken row. In 1839, Sistary writes, he met Houlihan on a railroad of Oregon, Houlihan had just been fatally jured in a smash-up, and recognized that eath was near. He called to Slattery and tid! "I am going over the divide this time," h was near. He called to Stattery and i "I am going over the divide this time, so get Father Dooley, for I killed Mike." Slattery says he summoned priest, who performed the last offices for dying man. Father Dooley, Slattery tes, is now stationed at Sequillen, Muse

FOR A SISTER'S WRONGS.

Remarkable Stery Told by John R. Lin-son at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 25.-John R. Linson, who was at first accused of murder-ing little Ida Gebhard, but who proved an alibi, tells a remarkable story. When he was a young man one of his sisters was ruined. He said: "When I heard of it I swore that I would kill the man who did it. I let him know it too, and then I started after him. I chased that man for four years and eight months and never got off his track. I hired detectives to help me. His sister, who had lots of money, came to his rescue and bribed the men I paid. He left for Europe and I was after him on the next ship. His sister came to me and begged me for mercy, and I told her that I was bound to kill him, and I kept my word. I lost trace of him in England, but got him again in Germany and I ran him out of Berlin. He came back to this country and went to Brazil. I was hot after him there and traveled all over South America a few days behind him. Then he came north again, went to California and sailed for Australia. I went after him and I would have caught him in New South Wales, but I broke my leg near Ballarat. "After I got well of my broken leg I started after him again. I found him in Sydney and would have killed him then but the police interfered. He escaped me and went to California, and it was there I got him. I stayed in a cellar of an engineer's house for three months while the police were searching for me. They told him I had gone and he began to feel safe. I knew what he was doing, for I had good friends and one day, just as he had gone into the hotel after dinner, I went after him. The place was grand with many lights and lots of gold on the ceiling and on the table was shining out glass and beautiful silver. I vidid not heed the guests that were in there eating. I went straight up to my man and grabbed him around the throat. I shot him time times. I was tried three times and though my lawyer wanted me to act crasy, I refused. I thought that if I did not have justification for what I had done, I was willing to hang. Finally they convicted me and sentenced me to prison for life. One of my lawyers was afterwards made Governor of the State and I was pardoned a alibi, tells a remarkable story. When he was a young man one of his sisters was woman, last night told a peculiar story of abduction on Central street, one of the Big Four roads, in discussing the rate situation last night, said: "Railroad business 188th street Monday morning. For two days his father, a bricklayer, threw up his work, hired a skiff and, as long as he could see, rowed awkwardly, but tirelessly, all over the Harlem River, where he thought he might find the body.

He was on the river early yesterday with the same skiff. He rowed down to 100th street and then turned about. He drifted along with the tide, and at 9 o'clock had reached a spot not twenty feet from the dock where the lad was lost.

"I was going to give up," he said later. "I was sure that the tide had carried out my boy's body when something came up not a dozen feet from the boat. It was Johnny."

He lifted the body tenderly in the boat. He kissed the bloated face and bathed it with hot tears. He wrapped his coat about it after reaching the dock, when the police found him exhausted and almost unconscious.

of abduction on Central street, one of the principal streets of the city, in broad daylight, by two men in a hack. She was walking along Central street when she was hustled into a cab and taken to some house and held in captivity until this morning. She was not injured in any way, but her clothing was torn and disarranged in her struggie to free herself from her captors. No cause is known for the abduction. The girl's parents are not wealthy, and, therefore, the expectation of a ransom could hardly be the reason. C. H. Fortmann ..... formed around a well recently sunk in this city.

Last night a depth of 60 feet had been attained, with 7 feet of water, when two workmen at the bottom noticed a terrible pressure against the curbing. They had barely reached the top when the sides disappeared in a yawning abyss. The earth has continued to disappear until the aperture is 20 feet at the top and apparently double that at the bottom. The direction of the caving is northwest, where the ground appears loose and shaky. As the engine house is in direct line of the sinking, its digappearance is hourly anticipated. There seems to be no cause apparent and the citizens are becoming alarmed. Destitute Negro Colonists.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—The negro colonists from Southern States who recently settled in Piedras Negras, Mexico, are in a destitute condition.

The Consul at Piedras Negras has been instructed to render any assistance which he can properly extend, and to report any serious developments. Our charge at the City of Mexico has been informed also of the state of affairs as reported by the Coasul and instructed to inquire into the treatment of the colonists. The Department of State has no funds which can be applied to maintaining destitute Americans other than seamen in foreign countries, or to provide for their transportation home, and has been obliged to so inform the Consul and all those persons who have made inquiries concerning these colonists. Attentions to Passing Tourists Form the Sole Social Diversion of the Week.

It is quite an unusual thing to find so many of St. Louis' fairest belies and beauties in the city during the summer solstice, as this season. Have they been bought off with a wheel? One would think so if they should chance to take a drive in Forest Park any fine evening or early morning.

Beveral entertainments and musicales were given last week in compliment to Miss Corinne Warren of Sedalia, Mo., who has been spending the past few weeks with her St. Louis relatives. Among them was an informal dinner given at the Mercantile Club by her coustn, Mr. Guy S. Warren, chaperoned by his sister, Mrs. Robbins Powe. The guests were Misses White and Walker, and Messrs. managed to get a certificate of good character satisfactory to L. M. Rumsey, the only other property-owner in the block besides Cella and the city, and Mr. Rumsey signed the petition for license which he had hither to refused to do. Then the police reported good character.

Cella's place was open election day in violation of law, and a man was shot there. Cella's place at Sixth and Morgan streets has had the reputation of being a resort of thieves, and has been looked upon as a "fence," according to previous reports of the bolice. police.

A noted thief was once caught while passing a roll of silk to the proprietor. On another occasion stolen property was recovered from them.

But the police report being good and the petition being signed by a maority of taxpayers, nothing remained for Excise Commissioner Bell but to grant the license,

ABE ROTHCHILD HERE. Much Wanted Man Now in the Grasp

Heary Smythe, alias Abe Rothchild, one of the most wanted men in the country, arrived at Union Station Wednesday evening from Toronte, Canada, in charge of General Superintendent Sampson of the Wells-Fargo Express Co. and Post-office Inspector Sutton.

Arrested in San Francisco and forwarded to St. Louis for prosecution, he escaped from a Deputy United States Marshal at Little Rock, Ark, and not only eluded capture, but, it is said, committed other crimes. He will be prosecuted at Moberly, Mo., for forging an order for goods in the name of John Jaeger of that city on C. M. Livingston & Co. of Chicago. Rothchild became famous twenty years ago, when tried for the murder of Bessie Moore, alias "Diamond Bessie." He was acquitted. He will be sent to Moberly Friday.

Falling off an ice wagon and being run over wan't enough bad luck for Charles Prendig. The accident occurred at Sixth and Pine streets at 4:30 o'clock p. m. Wednesday and Thursday Prendig was fined $30 and costs in the First District Police Court, having been arrested on the spot. The testimony developed that Prendig fell off the wagon because he was drunk and could not get up after the wagon run over him for the same reason. It was also developed that he tried to lick the policeman and citizen who came to his assistance.

Charged With Grand Larceny.

Thursday morning Charles H. Clark was re-arrested in the First District Court, charged with grand larceny, after the case against him for vagrancy had been ended by a nolle prosequi. He is charged with having stolen $200 worth of wearing apparel and silverware from C. H. Duncan of 2814 Washington avenue while the latter was away for the summer. Clake was employed by Duncan, and it is alleged broke open a trunk in the hasement. He was ployed by Duncan, and it is alleged broke open a trunk in the basement. He was arrested Monday by Detectives Danaher, Schoppe and McCarthy, and a charge put against him in the Police Court in order to hold him until Duncan's return to swear out a warrant.

FOR MASONS.

Lodges Anxious for Quarters in the New Century Building.

NEW PLANS WILL BE DRAWN.

An Eleventh and Twelfth Story Will Be Added for the Accommodation of Secret Orders.

The proposition to lease a portion of the Century building by the local Masonic lodges according to reports has met the approval of over half of the Masons in the city. The plan being pursued is to bring the matter up before a meeting of a subordinate lodge for approval or disapproval. Not a dissent ing vote has thus far been registered agains the scheme, and as more than 30 per cent of ter, it is almost a certainty that the big leas the Masons have already acted in the materier, it is almost a certainty that the big lease will be closed before the structure is erected.

Should this lease be made it will necessitate the changing of the plans for the upper two floors, which would greatly reduce the space for office rental. This has led Architect Roeder to planning and the result will be that a 12-story building will likely be erected instead of a 16-story structure, as designed at present.

The additional floor will be planned for the comfort of the Masons, with seven ordinary meeting halls, and the grand banquet and dancing hall.

A proposition has been made the Century Building Co. to change the name of the building from the Century to that of the Masonic Temple. Two of the most prominent corners of the city will be then dedicated to secret orders, viz. the Odd Fellows' Building and the Masonic Temple.

Men are at work night and day tearing down the old property. It is the present intention to finish the theats; portion, being the southwest corner of the lot, first.

Chouteau Place Prize "Ads." Chouteau Place Prize "Ads."

The Post-Dispatch publishes to-day the second prize display "ad" in the Chouteau place series. For this clever argument of the special advastages of the subdivision Nicholls-Ritter's prize committee awarded the second cash prize of 15 to the author, Mr. Chas. J. Greiner. The idea presented is that the acquirement of a home is of the first importance to every man, and other business can wait until the individual's own position is made secure.

ILL-ADVISED AGITATORS. Mr. Bertram Currie's Opinion of English Bimetallists. LONDON, July 3.-The Times this mor ning publishes a column letter from Mr. Bertram Currie, President of the Gold Stanof the firm of Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co., in reply to the statements made by Mr. Henry C. Gibbs, a director of the Bank of England and President of the British Bimetallio League, in the Times of July 13. controvering the arguments made in the manifesto of the Gold Defense Association. Mr. Currie says that in spite of time and labor spent in the controversy, the bimetallic league is still silent as to any specific plan in which the bimetallic theory is embodied as to the proper ratio, as to the methods of enforcing the ratio, or as to the consequences which would follow its establishment.

Summing up the situation from his standpoint, Mr. Currie says: "The bimetallists are enthusiastic, ill-advised agitators, instead of practical reformers."

MRS. HAYWARD

It Is Stated That She Will Go Before the Grand-Jury.

NOT TOLD ALL SHE KNOWS

Dr. Hearne Has No Fear of sult Should He Be Indicted.

pecial to The Post-Dispatch.

HANNIBAL, Mo., July 25.—There were to new developments in the Hearne-Di roung liber suit to-day. Richard H. Still rell and wife arrived home to-day from hicago, accompanied by Mrs. Suste Hayard, and it is thought Mrs. Hayward's dission here is to go before the Grand-try and tell all she knows about the Stillnurder and the relations existing be Dr. Hearne and the widow of the cen Dr. Hearne and the windw of the indered man, prior to and after the mur-t. It is a well known fact that she did tell all she knew in her deposition at icago last Saturday, and that is why Richard H. Stillwell prevailed upon to come to Hannibal and testify be-her to come to Hannibal and testify before the Grand-jury.

Mr. Mahan, courisel for the San Francisco paper, does not care to express himself as to the probable outcome of the libel suit, but he said to-day to a Post-Dispatch reporter that his client was well satisfied and that the Hannibal, and of the suit was safe. He thinks there will be more depositions taken in behalf of the defendant, but not in Hannibal. He says they have plenty of good evidence to defeat the libel suit.

Judge Hendrick, the California lawyer for he plaintiff, has gone to Bowling Green, like County, to visit some of his old friends, like County, to visit some of his old friends, ut he will return Monday and will probably lave for California next Tuesday.

Dr. Hearne and wife are still in the city, nd will remain here until after the grand ary reports. It is generally believed that pr. Hearne wants the grand jury to return an indictment against him, as he feels onfident that he cannot be convicted of the nurder of Amos J. Stillwell. The grand urors, or rather a committee are now in estigating the case, and they may be called

STORY OF AN EYE WITNESS Fastens the Guilt of Henry Lyons

Death on John Harvey.

Testimony at the inquest Thursday over the remains of Henry Lyons apparently fixes his murder upon John Harvey, who is under arrest. Daniel Mahan, 1408 South Eleventh street, an eye-witness, testified that he was standing on the corner of Seventh and Clark avenue at 11 o'clock Saturday night. He saw Lyons come out of Christ Haage's salcon, 713 South Seventh street, following Thomas Lake, who had been his companion. A man whom witnesses afterward recognized as Thomas Harvey, came close after. Some one the witness did not know hit Lake on the head. Lake fell. Harvey ran up to Lyons and made several lunges at him, then struck him with a soda water bottle. Lyons truck him with a soda water bottle. Lyons far was a crowd engaged in the battle, and Harvey was a crowd engaged in the battle, and Harvey far the latter the information on which they immediately arrested Harvey.

Frank. Davidson saw Harvey make a lunge and heard him say: "Gome again." Afterward heard him say: "Gome again." Afterward heard him say: "I guess I gave that man his dues."

The jury brought in the following verdict:

GOLD GOES ABROAD.

Further Shipments of the Metal in Small Amounts.

NEW YORK, July 25.-Gold continues to go abroad in small amounts. Thus far the aggregate is about $2,000,000. The Fuerst Bismarck will take away to-day $50,000 in same firm yesterday took $100,000 from the Sub-Treasury in gold coin in exchange for legal tenders. They declined to say whether they would ship that amount to-day or when. The shipments by the firm are somewhat mysterious.

Canada took $100,000 yesterday from the Sub-Treasury, giving up legal tender paper for it.

Several Revocations Were Written on the Margin of the Document.

The will of the late Miles Sells was filed Thursday for probate and was rejected by Judge Rassieur because, written on the margin of the instrument, were several rev-ocations of the entire will and of special bequests. He left $20,000 in trust for his nephew, Eugene Cuendet, made several be-quests of $2,000 and less and willed the balance of his estate to his daughter, great confusion and retard important work in sewer extensions and street improvements. Unless the bill restoring the appropriation for the purchase of macadam, sand, cinders and gravel is passed the £3,000 worth of gravel already delivered cannot be paid for, and no more such material can be bought. The bill cannot pass, if the Assembly adjourns on Friday, before next fall. A number of bils reported from the Board of Public Improvements are pending, and until passed the contracts cannot be let.

When it was supposed the pressing work of the Assembly could be completed by July & the Council adopted a concurrent resolution to adjourn on that date. In the House the resolution was laid on the Speaker's table to be taken up when the House sees fit. The Council cannot recall the resolution, and the House may force an adjournment to-morrow. If they do the responsibility for the delay of public work will rest on them. If to-morrow passes without action being taken the resolution will be void. As, however, the House has passed some bills it would like the Council to pass, it is likely that an adjournment will be postponed.

Powwow With the Indians.

OMAHA AGENCY (by Courier to Pender, Neb.), July 25.—Hardly had the Congress sion delegation, with an escort of nearly 100 citizens of Pender, entered the confines of Capi. Beck's reservation, when Deputy Marshal Boehme swooped down on William E. Peebles and John F. Meyers, placing them under arrest as conspirators against the Government of the United States. It was the first gun from Capi. Beck, and the delegation of citizens, together with the Congressional delegation, were somewhat nonplussed over the turn affairs had taken. Capt. Beck said he was tired of fooling and proposed to execute the laws as he found them on the statute books, and wanted it distinctly understood that he was responsible for the agency and the wards of the sible for the agency and the wards of the Government. The warrant also included the name of John S. Lemon, President of the Flournoy Company, and George S. Harris. It charges them with conspiracy to oppose the Government of the United States by force, and that to effect the object of said conspiracy they armed 200 farmers, and sent them on the reservation to resist properly constituted United States legal authorities. sent them on the reservation to resist properly constituted United States legal authorities.

Several Indians spoke on both sides of the allotment proposition, and the delegation adjourned to go to the Winnebago Agency.

Peculiar Death of Will W. Thornton at Shelbyville, Ill.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., July 25.—Will W Thornton, died this morning at the residence of J. T. Herrick. He was the eldest son of the late Gen. W. F. Thornton, and son of the late Gen. W. F. Thornton, and at one time a wealthy man. He married a St. Louis lady, a daughter of the late Dr. Moore, by whom he had nine children. He lost his money, seven of his nine children and his wife. For years he has looked to charity for the bare necessities of life. The belief is general that he died from a dose of morphine taken with suicidal intent. He was found in an unconscious condition in the doer yard. found in an uncon door yard.

Browning Advises the Indians.

WASHINGTON, July 25 .- Comm of Indian Affairs Browning has forwarded a dispatch to Agent Teter at the For Hall, Idaho, agency, instructing him to order the Indians now on the warpath to return to their reservations quietly and peacefully before the military detachment peacefully perore the military detachment ordered to the schen reaches there. The commissioner says he wants it understood that he advises the Indians as a friend desirous of their best interests and welfare. Agent Teter sent a reply this morning stating that he had sent trustworthy Indians to deliver the message to the Bannocks in the field.

Genuine Bargains for Shoppers at the Grand Leader To-Morrow.

Direct financial pressure, exerted by two of the big St. Louis jobbing-houses, re-sulted in the closing of Julius Thiele's dry goods and shoe house at 7327 and 7329 South Broadway. Tuesday the Sheriff sold the stock (one of the best assorted in Caron-delet) at auction, and the Grand Leader of sis to Si North Broadway became the pur-chaser at about 35 cents on the dollar.

This means another of those marvelous

This means another of those marvelous money-saving sales at that popular and enterprising Grand Leader, beginning promptly at 3 o'clock to-morrow (Friday) morning. An immense saving of money is thus certainly assured all Grand Leader patrons—it means dry goods and shoes at half less than half regular prices.
